

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to methods for acidifying and preserving food compositions using electrodialyzed compositions. Food products are contacted with an amount of electro dialysis composition effective for lowering the pH of the food product while 5 maintaining desirable organoleptic quality.